

I scored a 3.00 on the grit test. This seemed pretty accurate with who I am. I am a very hard worker but I often find myself diving into too many things at the same time. Just about everything I do in life I like to give it my all and become obsessed with it. However it can be difficult to give it my all in lacrosse, art, skiing, skateboarding, filming, and many others all at the same time.

I have had to overcome some challenges in my life but I feel that most of the time I don't realise the challenge I overcame until well after I accomplished it. A big challenge for me was just moving all the way out to Montana for school. I didn't know anyone, had never really been to Montana, and was a bit nervous to be so far away from home. However now I see that I overcame the challenge of facing my fears and moving to a place where I originally felt uncomfortable. I have many close friends and love it out here.
